And afterwards, to-wit, on November 11, 1913, there was duly filed in said court the petition of John L. Snyder, et al, defendants-cross-complainants, and William F. Slaughter, et al, interveners, for separate appeal, in words and figures as follows, to-wit.

(TITLE.)

And they and each and all of the aforesaid interveners, defendants and cross-complainants hereinbefore named as petitioners herein, conceiving themselves aggrieved by the judgment and decree made and rendered in the above entitled court in the above entitled cause, and entered herein on the first day of July, A. D. 1913, at the March, 1913, term of said court, in favor of the complainant in the above entitled cause and against each and all of the said defendants therein, and against each and all of the said defendants-cross-complainants therein, and against each and all of the said interveners therein, wherein and whereby, among other things, it was and is adjudged and decreed that all of those certain lands and estates in lands described in the said judgment and decree, have become and now are forfeited to and the title to all of said lands and estates in lands has reverted to, and now is revested in, the United States of America, and all of said lands and estates in lands now are the absolute property of the United States of America free from any and all claim or claims of right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the same or any part thereof, by or in favor of the defendants, cross-complainants and interveners herein or either or any of them, or any party or parties claiming under them or either or any of them; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY, among other things, it was and is further adjudged and decreed that the title of the United States of America to all of said lands and estates in lands be, and the same is hereby quieted and confirmed, and particularly as to any and all claim or claims of right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the same or any part thereof, by or in favor of the defendants, cross-complainants and interveners herein, and each and every one of them, and each and every party or parties claiming under them or either or any of them; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY, among other things, it was and is further adjudged and decreed that each and all of the defendants, cross-complainants and interveners herein, and their respective officers and agents be, and they and each of them hereby are, forever enjoined and restrained from in any manner claiming or asserting any right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the aforesaid lands and estates in lands, or any part thereof; and from in any manner selling, conveying, leasing or disposing of any of said lands or estates in lands, or any interest therein; and from negotiating, executing or recording any document or instrument, and from doing any other act or thing, which shall in any manner affect or encumber the title to said lands, or any part thereof; and from going upon said lands or any part thereof; and from cutting, removing or in any manner using or injuring any of the timber or other natural products thereof; and from in any manner committing trespass upon said lands or any part thereof; and from in any manner using or interfering with said lands and estates in lands or any part thereof; or the title or possession thereof; and from contracting with, inviting, inducing, or in any manner whatsoever permitting others to do any of the things aforesaid; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that the said judgment and decree shall not apply and is not intended to apply to reservations or exceptions of right-of-way for the main track of the railroad of the Oregon & California Railroad Company as actually constructed, established and in operation at the date of the said decree; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that the defendants Oregon and California Railroad Company, Stephen T. Gage and Union Trust Company shall within sixty days from the date that any of said lands shall revert to said defendants or either or any of them in said decree mentioned, execute and file with the Clerk of the above entitled court, a deed of conveyance, in due and legal form, conveying and confirming the said lands unto the United States of America, free from any and all claim or claims of right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the same, or on any part thereof, in favor of said defendants, or either or any of them. And in the event that said defendants, or either or any of them, shall fail to execute and file any such deed or deeds of conveyance as aforesaid, the said judgment and decree shall operate, and shall have the same force and effect, as such deed or deeds of conveyance; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that there be excepted from the operation of said judgment and decree all right-of-way and station grounds as established and in actual use at the date of said judgment and decree in the operation of the railroad of the defendant Oregon and California Railroad Company; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things, it was and is further adjudged and decreed that within sixty days from the date of said judgment and decree the defendants, Oregon and California Railroad Company, Stephen T. Gage and Union Trust Company, shall execute and deliver to the Clerk of the above entitled Court a deed of conveyance in due and legal form, conveying and confirming unto the United States of America all of the said lands situated in the State of Washington, free and clear from any and all claim or claims of right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the same, or any part thereof, in favor of the defendants herein or either or any of them, which said lands are particularly described in said judgment and decree; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that each and all of the cross-complaints and bills and petitions in intervention be and they are dismissed for want of equity with costs in favor of the prevailing parties, respectively, to be thereafter taxed; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that the complainants' prayer for an accounting be and the same is denied; and

WHEREIN AND WHEREBY among other things it was and is further adjudged and decreed that the complainant, the United States of America have and recover from the defendants Oregon & California Railroad, Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage and Union Trust Company its lawful costs and disbursements herein, and that execution issue therefor,

The above and foregoing petition is granted and the appeal allowed upon giving bond for costs in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars.

Done in open Court this 11 day of October, A. D. 1913.

Chas. E. Wolverton,
Judge.

(Endorsed) Filed November 11, 1913, A. M. Cannon, Clerk United States District Court, by G. H. Marsh, Deputy.

And thereupon, by order of court, said Assignments of Errors of John L. Snyder, et al, hereinbefore set out, was re-filed in said court on November 11, 1913.

(Endorsed) Re-filed November 11, 1913, A. M. Cannon, Clerk United States District Court.

And thereafter on November 11, 1913, there was duly filed in said court the joint and several Assignments of Errors of John H. Haggett and others, defendants-cross-complainants, and William F. Slaughter and others, interveners, in separate appeal, in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

(TITLE).

And they do and each of them does complain of errors in the proceedings in the above entitled cause in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon and in the several judgments and orders of dismissal made and rendered therein and in the decision, judgment and decree made and rendered therein all of which were entered therein on the first day of July, 1913 at the March, 1913 term of said Court, which said several judgments and orders of dismissal and which said decision, judgment and decree and the substance thereof is and are set forth and described in the joint and several petition for appeal of the cross-complainants and interveners herein herewith filed and to which said several judgments and orders of dismissal and to which proceedings, decision, judgment and decree these assignments of error pertain and relate,

And these interveners and cross-complainants do say and each of them says that said proceedings and said several judgments and orders of dismissal were and are and said decision, judgment and decree was and is against the just rights of these interveners and each of them and against the just rights of these cross-complainants and each of them.

And, there being many parties hereto and many others similarly situated, for the purpose of simplifying the record and preventing a great multiplicity and duplication of the assignments of error herein, these assignments of error are made by all and each of the parties hereto on their own behalf and on behalf of each of them, with the intent that each assignment shall be considered and taken as the assignment of each and all persons upon behalf of whom it may apply and be pertinent.

And in that behalf and for that purpose these interveners and these cross-complainants do and each of them does jointly and severally assign the following as errors complained of and intended to be urged by them and each of them upon said appeal, that is to say:

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to the cross-complaint of the defendant, John H. Haggett and the other defendants with him in his said bill joined, for want of equity in said bill, and

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to the cross-complainant of said defendants, for want of equity in said bill, and

3

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to strike the cross-complaint of said defendants, for want of equity in said bill, and

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to strike the cross-complaint of said defendants, for want of equity in said bill, and

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the complainant for an order striking the cross-complaint of said defendants, and in granting and entering the order striking said bill, for want of equity in said bill, and

6

The Court erred in not requiring the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to answer said cross-complaint, and

7

The Court erred in not requiring the Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to answer said cross-complaint, and

8

The Court erred in not requiring the complainant to answer said cross-complaint, and

9

The Court erred in not granting to said defendants and each of them, the relief prayed for by them and each of them respectively, in said bill, and

10

The Court erred in not granting to said defendants or any of them, any equitable relief, as

Said cross-complaint contains allegations and matters entitling said defendants and each of them to equitable relief, and

Said cross-complaint contains allegations and matters entitling said defendants and each of them to the relief prayed for by them and each of them respectively, in said bill.

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to the bill of intervention of the intervener William F. Slaughter, and the other interveners with him in his said bill joined, for want of equity in said bill, and

12

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and

13

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want, of equity in said bill, and

14

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and

15

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the complainant for an order striking the bill of intervention of said interveners, and in granting and entering the order striking said bill, for want of equity in said bill, and

16

The Court erred in not requiring the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company

and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention and 17

The Court erred in not requiring the Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention and

18

The Court erred in not requiring the complainant to answer said bill in intervention, and 19

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners and each of them, the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively in said bill, and 20

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners or any of them, any equitable relief,

As said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling said interveners and each of them to equitable relief, and

Said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling the said interveners, and each of them to the relief prayed for by them and each of them respectively in said bill.

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to the bill of intervention of the interveners, Edward D. Townsend and the other interveners with him in his said bill joined, for want of equity in said bill, and

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and 183

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and 184

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and

185

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the complainant for an order striking the bill of intervention of said interveners, and in granting and entering the order striking said bill, for want of equity in said bill, and

186

The Court erred in not requiring the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and 187

The Court erred in not requiring the Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and 188

The Court erred in not requiring the complainant to answer said bill in intervention, and 189

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners and each of them, the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in said bill, and

190

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners or any of them, any equitable relief,

As said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling said interveners and each of them to equitable relief, and 285

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the complainant for an order striking the bill of intervention of said interveners, and in granting and entering the order striking said bill, for want of equity in said bill, and 236

The Court erred in not requiring the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and 237

The Court erred in not requiring the Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and 238

The Court erred in not requiring the complainant to answer said bill in intervention, and 239

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners and each of them, the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in said bill, and

240

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners or any of them, any equitable relief,

As said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling said interveners and each of them to equitable relief, and

Said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling the said interveners and each of them, to the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in said bill.

241

The Court erred in sustaining the demurrer of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to the bill of intervention of the intervener, Albert Bozarth, and the other interveners with him in his said bill joined, for want of equity in said bill, and 242

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendants, Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and 244

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the defendant, Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to strike the bill of intervention of said interveners, for want of equity in said bill, and 245

The Court erred in sustaining the motion of the complainant for an order striking the bill of intervention of said interveners, and in granting and entering the order striking said bill, for want of equity in said bill, and 246

The Court erred in not requiring the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and 247

The Court erred in not requiring the Union Trust Company, individually and as Trustee, to answer said bill in intervention, and

248

The Court erred in not requiring the complainant to answer said bill in intervention, and 249

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners and each of them, the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in said bill, and

250

The Court erred in not granting to said interveners or any of them, any equitable relief,

As said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling said interveners and each of them to equitable relief, and

Said bill of intervention contains allegations and matters entitling the said interveners and each of them, to the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in said bill.

The Court erred in holding that these interveners and cross-complainants were not entitled to the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, and 252

The Court erred in not holding that these interveners and cross-complainants were entitled to the relief prayed for by them and each of them respectively, and 253

The Court erred in holding that none of these interveners and cross-complainants were entitled to the relief prayed for by them, and 254

The Court erred in holding that none of these interveners and cross-complainants were entitled to any relief;

As, their said bills of intervention and cross-complaint and each of them, contain allegations and matters entitling these interveners and cross-complainants and each of them, to equitable relief; and

Said bills of intervention and cross-complaint and each of them, contain allegations and matters entitling the interveners and cross-complainants and each of them, to the relief prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in their said bills.

255

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to a forfeiture of the lands or any of the lands sought to be purchased by the interveners and cross-complainants herein or any of them.

256

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, was not entitled to a forfeiture of the lands or any of the lands sought to be purchased by the interveners and cross-complainants herein or any of them.

257

The Court erred in holding that the lands or any thereof described in this decree, were and had been forfeited to the complainant, and that a decree be entered forfeiting said lands, or any thereof, to the complainant.

258

The Court erred in holding that the lands sought to be purchased by the interveners and cross-complainants herein, should be forfeited.

259

The Court erred in holding that the lands or any thereof sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants, or any of them, described in said decree, were and had been forfeited to the United States, complainant herein, and that a decree be entered forfeiting said lands or any thereof to the complainant.

260

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the said act of April 10, 1869, was a condition subsequent.

261

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the amendment of April 10, 1869, requiring the sale of lands to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre was or is a condition subsequent, the breach of which entitled the United States, complainant herein, to a forfeiture of the lands covered by said land grant.

262

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the amendment of April 10, 1869, requiring the sale of land to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, was not and is not a condition subsequent, the breach of which would entitle the United States, complainant, to a forfeiture of the lands covered by said grant.

The Court erred in holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, requiring the sale of lands to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, was or is a condition subsequent, the breach of which entitled the United States, complainant herein, to a forfeiture of the lands covered by said land grant.

264

The Court erred in not holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, requiring the sale of lands to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, was not nor is not a condition subsequent, the breach of which would entitle the United States, complainant, to a forfeiture of the lands covered by said land grant.

265

The Court erred in holding that the consequence and penalty of forfeiture was attached by Congress to a breach, should such there be, of the proviso of April 10, 1869.

266

The Court erred in holding that the consequence and penalty of forfeiture was intended by Congress to be attached to a breach, should such there be, of the covenant or proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, requiring sales of land to settlers.

267

The Court erred in holding that the provision in the West Side grant, requiring sales to settlers, was a condition subsequent, and 268

The Court erred in not holding that the provision in the West Side grant, requiring sales to settlers, was not a condition subsequent, as

(a) Said provision is not coupled with and does not contain any appropriate words importing a condition subsequent, and

(b) Said provision does not contain any language importing a right to forfeiture or re-entry for condition broken.

269

The Court erred in holding that the consequence and penalty of forfeiture was attached by Congress to a breach, should such there be, of any provision of said act of May 4, 1870, touching sales to actual settlers.

270

The Court erred in holding that the consequence and penalty of forfeiture was intended by Congress to be attached to a breach, should such there be, of the covenant or provision in the act of May 4, 1870, requiring sales to settlers.

271

The Court erred in holding that there was jurisdiction in the Court on the equity side to enforce a forfeiture of said East Side grant for the breach of an assumed condition subsequent if such there was, in said proviso of said act of April 10, 1869.

272

The Court erred in holding that there was jurisdiction in the Court on the equity side to decree a forfeiture of the title of the defendants to the lands embraced in and covered by the East Side grant, for breach of an assumed condition subsequent in the proviso contained in the act of April 10, 1869.

273

The Court erred in assuming jurisdiction on the equity side to enforce a forfeiture of the East Side grant for breach of an assumed condition subsequent in the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, as

(a) The effect of such assumption was to divest the interests of the interveners and cross-complainants which had become vested, in parts of said East Side grant, under the terms of said proviso, and

(b) No declaration of forfeiture had ever been made by Congress prior to the vesting of such interest, and

(c) No declaration of forfeiture had been made by Congress prior to the entry of said decree, and

(d) No declaration of forfeiture had been made by Congress prior to the commencement of said suit.

274

The Court erred in holding that there was jurisdiction in the court on the equity side to enforce a forfeiture for the breach of an assumed condition subsequent, if such breach there was, in any provision of said act of May 4, 1870.

275

The Court erred in holding that there was jurisdiction in the Court on the equity side of decree a forfeiture of the title of the defendants to the lands embraced in and covered by the West Side grant, for breach of an assumed condition subsequent contained in the act of May 4, 1870.

276

The Court erred in assuming jurisdiction on the equity side to enforce a forfeiture of the West Side grant for breach of an assumed condition subsequent contained in said grant, as

(a) The effect of such assumption was to divest the interests of the interveners and cross-complainants, which had become vested in parts of the West Side grant, under the terms of said grant, and

(b) No declaration of forfeiture had ever been made by Congress prior to the vesting of such interest, and

(c) No declaration of forfeiture had been made by Congress prior to the entry of said decree, and

(d) No declaration of forfeiture had been made by Congress prior to the commencement of said suit.

277

The Court erred in holding that by its joint resolution of April 13, 1908, the Congress of the United States forfeited or intended to forfeit, or authorized the forfeiture by the Attorney General or intended to authorize the forfeiture by the Attorney General, or authorized or intended to authorize or empower the Court to forfeit or decree a forfeiture of the lands embraced within the East Side grant, for or on account of any assumed breach of conditions of the proviso of the act of April 10, 1869.

278

The Court erred in holding that by its joint resolution of April 30, 1908, the Congress of the United States forfeited or intended to forfeit, or authorized the forfeiture by the Attorney General, or intended to authorize the forfeiture by the Attorney General, or authorized or intended to authorize or empower the Court to forfeit or decree a forfeiture of the lands embraced within the West Side grant for or on account of any assumed breach of condition contained in said grant.

The Court erred in holding that there was any cause of action or foundation of jurisdiction for forfeiture in respect to either of said grants, in any re-entry for breach of condition or legislation equivalent thereof, or in any legislative declaration of forfeiture.

280

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, requiring sales to settlers, was not sufficiently definite to be enforced as a condition subsequent.

As such proviso does not contain any words importing a right of forfeiture or re-entry for condition broken.

The Court, being a court of equity, erred in decreeing a forfeiture to the complainant of all right and interest of the defendants in or to the lands embraced within the grant of 1866, for breach of the assumed condition contained in the amendment of April 10, 1869, as

(a) Assuming that said proviso was a condition subsequent, for breach of which forfeiture could be had, such condition subsequent was and is also a covenant; and

(b) The complainant prayed in its bill of complaint for a specific performance of this covenant, and

(c) Such forfeiture was and is inequitable and should not be decreed by any court of equity where there is any other means of doing justice between the parties; and

(d) The complainant prayed for specific performance of the covenant, and the Court should have granted such prayer, as by such performance justice and equity could have been done to all of the parties to the suit without forfeiture; and

(e) The Court was without jurisdiction to and it was inequitable for it to divest the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company of title as trustee for the benefit of the interveners and cross-complainants, sestui que trustent, with interests vested prior to said decree; and

(f) In divesting the railroad company of title by forfeiture, the Court, in effect, imposed a penalty upon the railroad company to the extent of its interest in the land forfeited, to-wit: in the amount of $2.50 per acre for each acre of the land so forfeited, for and on account of the breach of its covenant, the imposing of which penalty is wholly inequitable, and

(g) By forfeiture the Court divested the vested interest of these interveners and cross-complainants and each of them, without any fault on their part or on the part of any of them, all of which is wholly inequitable.

The Court, being a court of equity, erred in decreeing a forfeiture to the complaint, of all right and interest of the defendants, in or to the lands embraced within the West Side land grant, for breach of the assumed condition contained in the act of May 4, 1870, as

(a) Assuming that said provision was a condition subsequent, for breach of which forfeiture could be had, such condition subsequent was and is also a covenant; and

(b) The complainant prayed in its bill of complaint for a specific performance of this covenant, and

(c) Such forfeiture was and is inequitable and should not be decreed by any court of equity where there is any other means of doing justice between the parties; and

(d) The complainant prayed for specific performance of the covenant, and the Court should have granted such prayer, as by such performance justice and equity could have been done to all of the parties to the suit without forfeiture; and

(e) The Court was without jurisdiction to and it was inequitable for it to divest defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company of title as trustee for the benefit of the interveners and cross-complainants, sestui qui trustent, with interests vested prior to said decree; and

(f) In divesting the railroad company of title by forfeiture, the Court, in effect, imposed a penalty upon the railroad company to the extent of its interest in the land forfeited, to-wit: in the amount of $2.50 per acre for each acre of the land forfeited, for and on account of the breach of its covenant, the imposing of which penalty is wholly inequitable, and

(g) By forfeiture the Court divested the vested interest of these interveners and cross-complainants and each of them, without any fault on their part or on the part of any of them, all of which is wholly inequitable.

The Court erred in not holding that this suit cannot be maintained by complainant as one to enforce forfeiture nor to quiet title, as

(a) Neither the United States nor Congress has declared a forfeiture; and

(b) The fact of forfeiture had not been adjudicated by a court of law; and

(c) The defendant, railroad company, holds legal title to and the possession of said granted lands; and

(d) Complainant having asked for forfeiture and in the alternative, for specific performance, this suit cannot be maintained for forfeiture, since equitable relief may be granted by specific performance; and

(e) In view of specific performance, a decree quieting title in the Government, cannot be had.

The Court erred in not holding that the Government was estopped to claim forfeiture of the lands embraced within each and both of said land grants, as

(a) The Government in its bill of complaint bases its right to recover, upon the refusal of the railroad company to sell said lands to the interveners and cross-complainants and others similarly situated, and

(b) The Government in its bill of complaint prayed that these interveners and cross-complainants might be permitted to enforce their rights herein, and

(c) The Government having come into a court of equity is estopped to claim forfeiture when equitable relief by performance can be had; and

(d) The Government is estopped to claim forfeiture in lieu of performance, since the interveners and cross-complainants have come into court upon the invitation of the Government and furnished the means whereby performance may be had.

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in each and both of said land grants concerning sales to settlers, are negative provisions only, designed to prevent sales to others than settlers in quantities greater than one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at prices greater than $2.50 per acre, and not positive provisions requiring sales to settlers in quantities not greater than one-quarter section to any one purchaser and at a price not greater than $2.50 per acre.

286

The Court erred in not holding that the provisions of each and both of said land grants concerning sales to settlers were both positive and negative, requiring the grantee to sell to settlers, who should apply to buy, not more than one-quarter section, at a price not greater than $2.50 per acre, and requiring said grantee to refrain from selling any of the granted lands to others than settlers or in quantities greater than one-quarter section or at a price greater than $2.50 per acre.

287

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in each and both of said land grants, requiring sales to settlers, are not positive covenants which may be specifically enforced.

288

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in each and both of said land grants requiring sales to settlers, is a negative covenant only, which may be enforced by the Government only, and that the only means of such enforcement are by forfeiture for breach thereof.

289

The Court erred in decreeing a forfeiture of those lands included in either or both of the grants to the railroad company or which the interveners and cross-complainants had made application to purchase from and tendered to the railroad company the sum of $2.50 per acre and offered to become actual settlers on the lands so applied for, prior to the adoption by Congress of the joint resolution of April 30, 1908, as

By so applying, tendering the purchase price and offering to become an actual settler upon the lands so applied for, each intervener and cross-complainant has acquired a vested interest in the land applied for, which cannot be divested by Congress, assuming that said provisions are conditions subsequent, and that the adoption of said joint resolution by Congress was a declaration of forfeiture for breach thereof.

The Court erred in holding that although the provisions in each and both of said land grants were designed to devote the lands conveyed by said grants, to settlement and tillage and to prevent the monopoly of the land and that such grants were laws as well as grants, that notwithstanding the railroad company might defeat the purposes of the provisions requiring sales to settlers, by themselves monopolizing and holding the lands and refusing to sell them at all, and by refusing to sell any of them except to such persons and in such quantities as it saw fit within the price and terms provided in the grant.

291

The Court erred in not holding that the purpose of the joint resolution of Congress of April 30, 1908, was to authorize the enforcement of a forfeiture for any breach of an assumed condition subsequent in either of said land grants, as an alternative only, of the refusal of the railroad company to perform the covenants requiring sales to settlers, after such performance had been decreed by the Court.

292

The Court erred in not holding that the joint resolution of Congress of April 30, 1908, authorized the enforcement of forfeiture for any breach of an assumed condition subsequent in either of said land grants, only in the event that specific performance of the covenants in said grants, requiring sales to settlers, could not be enforced.

293

The Court erred in not holding that the joint resolution of Congress of April 30, 1908, authorized a forfeiture of the legal title of the railroad company for breach of an assumed condition subsequent in either of said land grants, only as a means of carrying into effect the covenants in said grants requiring sales to settlers.

294

The Court erred in holding that at the time of the filing of the bill of complaint herein and ever since, and for a long time continuously next prior thereto, the Oregon and California Railroad Company, did not have possession of said grants or either of them.

295

The Court erred in not holding that at the time of filing of the bill of complaint herein, and ever since, and for a long time continuously next prior thereto, the Oregon and California Railroad Company had legal title and the possession of all lands of which forfeiture is sought by said bill of complaint.

296

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, is the owner in fee simple or in possession of said lands or any part thereof or entitled to said lands or entitled to the possession of the same or any part thereof, which are sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

The Court erred in holding that, as a foundation for a suit to quiet its title to either of said grants, or any part thereof, the complainant was in possession of the said grants, or either of them, or any part thereof; and in holding that the Oregon and California Railroad Company did not have the possession of the same.

298

The Court erred in holding as a foundation for a suit by complainant, to quiet its title to the said grants or either of them, or any part thereof, that the same had not been reduced to possession, and were unoccupied and vacant, and not in possession of said defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company.

299

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, is not the owner in fee simple, nor in possession of said lands or any part thereof, nor entitled to said lands, nor entitled to the possession of the same or any part of the same, which are sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

300

The Court erred in holding that the complainant is the owner in fee simple, or in possession of said lands or any part thereof, or entitled to the possession of the same or any part thereof.

301

The Court erred in holding that as a foundation for a suit to quiet its title to either of said grants, or any part thereof, the said complainant had legal title to the same, or either of them, or any part thereof; and in holding that the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company did not have the legal title to such grants.

302

The Court erred in holding that the title of the United States of America, of or in said lands or estates in lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them, be or is by said decree, quieted and confirmed, particularly as to any claim or claims of right, title and interest in, to or upon the same, in favor of these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

The Court erred in holding that the lands and estates in lands in the said decree described, and which were sought to be purchased by the interveners and cross-complainants herein or any of them, either in whole or in part, now are forfeited to, or that the title to or any part thereof, has reverted to and now is revested in the United States of America, or that the same or any part thereof, now are the absolute property of the United States of America, or are free from any and all claim or claims of right, title or interest or lien in, to or upon the same or any part thereof, by or in favor of these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants or any of them, from conveying to these interveners and cross-complainants, any of the lands sought to be purchased by them respectively, upon the terms proposed by said interveners and cross-complainants, and upon the terms provided in the act of July 25, 1866 and the act of April 10, 1869, amendatory thereof.

305

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, was not entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants or any of them, from conveying to these interveners and cross-complainants any of the lands sought to be purchased by them respectively, upon the terms proposed by said interveners and cross-complainants and upon the terms provided in the act of July 25, 1866, and the act of April 10, 1869, amendatory thereof.

306

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants or any of them, from conveying to these interveners and cross-complainants, any of the lands sought to be purchased by them respectively, upon the terms proposed by said interveners and cross-complainants and upon the terms provided in the act of May 4, 1870.

307

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, was not entitled to an injunction restraining the defendants or any of them, from conveying to these interveners and cross-complainants, any of the lands sought to be purchased by them respectively, upon the terms proposed by said interveners and cross-complainants, and upon the terms provided in the act of May 4, 1870.

308

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to any injunctive relief whatever as against these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

309

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to a decree restraining these interveners and cross-complainants, or any of them, from claiming or asserting any right, title, interest or lien in, to or upon the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants, respectively.

310

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, was not entitled to a decree restraining these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them, from claiming or asserting any right, title or interest or lien in, to or upon the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants, respectively.

311

The Court erred in holding that the title of complainant to the said lands, or any part thereof, should be quieted.

312

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to a decree quieting and confirming in it the title to the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants, or any of them.

818

The Court erred in not holding that the United States, complainant herein, was not entitled to a decree quieting and confirming in it the title to the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants, or any of them.

814

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, was not a covenant, the acceptance and agreement to perform which was imposed by Congress as a condition precedent to the right of the Oregon and California Railroad Company to accept and become vested with the title to the lands under the grant of 1866.

815

The Court erred in holding that the word "provided" introducing the proviso contained in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, imported a condition subsequent,

(a) The word "provided" is as appropriate for the purpose of importing a condition precedent as a condition subsequent, and

(b) Said proviso is coupled with a clause in said act contained permitting the grantees to accept said grant one year after the passage of said amendatory act, and

(c) Said proviso is not coupled with and does not bear any relation to the granting clause in said act amended.

316

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, was and is a covenant, the acceptance and agreement to perform which was imposed by Congress as a condition precedent to the right of the railroad company to accept and become vested with the title to the lands under the grant of 1866.

317

The Court erred in refusing to direct and decree a specific performance on behalf of the United States, the complainant herein, and against the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company and the other defendants claiming by, through and under it, requiring said defendants to convey to these interveners and cross-complainants, the lands sought to be purchased by each respectively, upon payment of the purchase price therefor.

318

The Court erred in not holding that the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company and other defendants, claiming an interest in said land, be required to convey said land to the interveners and cross-complainants applying to purchase the same.

319

The Court erred in holding that the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company and each and all of the other defendants claiming an interest in said land, should not be required to convey said lands to the interveners and cross-complainants applying for the same.

320

The Court erred in holding that Congress did not intend by the act of April 10, 1869, to give to actual settlers the right to compel the railroad company to sell to them the lands embraced within the grant of July 25, 1866, according to the terms of the proviso in said act of April 10, 1869.

321

The Court erred in not holding that Congress intended, by the act of April 10, 1869, to give to actual settlers the right to compel the railroad company to sell to them the lands embraced within the grant of July 25, 1866, according to the terms of the proviso in said act of April 10, 1869.

322

The Court erred in holding that Congress did not intend by the act of May 4, 1870, to give to actual settlers the right to compel the railroad company to sell to them the lands embraced within the West Side land grant, according to the terms of the provision in said act of May 4, 1870.

323

The Court erred in not holding that Congress intended, by the act of May 4, 1870, to give to actual settlers the right to compel the railroad company to sell to them the lands embraced within the West Side land grant, according to the terms of the provision in said act of May 4, 1870.

324

The Court erred in refusing to direct and decree a specific performance on behalf of the interveners and cross-complainants and each of them, against the defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company, and the other defendants claiming by, through and under it, requiring said defendants to convey to these interveners and cross-complainants, the lands sought to be purchased by said interveners and cross-complainants, respectively, as prayed for in their several bills.

325

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in each and both of said grants did not constitute contracts entered into by and between the Government and the railroad company, for the benefit of and enforceable by the interveners and cross-complainants.

326

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, requiring sales to settlers, was not a covenant to a use and did not impress a trust upon said lands for the benefit of those, who in good faith should apply to make settlement upon said land, and to purchase the same in quantities and at prices provided by said amendatory act.

327

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the amendatory act of April 10, 1869, requiring sales to settlers, was a covenant to a use and impressed a trust upon said lands for the benefit of those, who in good faith should apply to make settlement upon said land and to purchase the same in quantities and at prices provided by said amendatory act.

328

The Court erred in holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, relating to sale of land to actual settlers, was not a covenant to a use and did not impress a trust upon said lands for the benefit of those who in good faith should apply to make settlement upon said land and to purchase the same in quantities and at prices provided by said act.

329

The Court erred in not holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, relating to sale of lands to actual settlers, was a covenant to a use and impressed a trust upon said lands for the benefit of those who in good faith should apply to make settlement upon said land and to purchase the same in quantities and at prices provided in said act.

330

The Court erred in holding that the railroad company was not constituted a trustee for the benefit of the interveners and cross-complainants as sestui que trustent, under the provisions requiring sales of lands to settlers, referred to, in that

(a) "The nature and quality of their interests are not specific and definite," and, in that

(b) "They are not susceptible of identification as such," and,

331

The Court erred in not holding that the railroad company, by the provisions in said grants contained, was constituted a trustee for the benefit of the interveners and cross-complainants as sestui que trustent, as

(a) The nature and quality of said interests under said grants are sufficiently specific and definite, and

(b) Their application to purchase and offer to settle upon the lands, is a sufficient identification.

332

The Court erred in holding that the offer and tender by the interveners and cross-complainants, to purchase the lands sought by them to be purchased of and from the Oregon and California Railroad Company, did not give to the respective interveners and cross-complainants a vested interest in said lands, in default of an acceptance of such offers and conveyances of said lands by the Oregon and California Railroad Company.

333

The Court erred in not holding that the offer and tender by the interveners and cross-complainants, to purchase the lands sought by them to be purchased of and from the Oregon and California Railroad Company, gave to the respective interveners and cross-complainants, a vested interest in said lands, in default of an acceptance of such offers and conveyances, by the Oregon and California Railroad Company.

334

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, is not sufficiently definite and certain to be enforced as a covenant to a use or as a trust.

335

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, is sufficiently definite and certain to be enforced as a covenant to a use or as a trust.

336

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, requiring sales to settlers, is sufficiently definite and certain as a condition subsequent, to entitle the Government to a forfeiture for its breach, and that it is not sufficiently definite and certain to be specifically enforced as a covenant to a use, or a a covenant creating a trust.

337

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, for the sale of lands to actual settlers was intended by Congress as and was and is a covenant to a use only, and not a condition subsequent, as

(a) Said proviso contains specific and direct commands which were assented to, and performance thereof promised, by the Oregon and California Railroad Company, and

(b) Said proviso does not contain any clause providing for forfeiture or re-entry for breach of such covenant, and

(c) Said contract devotes said land to settlement and tillage and ultimate ownership by settlers.

338

The Court erred in holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, was not a covenant to a use, impressed upon and running with the title to the land, until the title should have ultimately become vested in an actual settler, upon the terms and under the conditions provided in said grant.

339

The Court erred in not holding that the proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, was a covenant to a use, impressed upon and running with the title to the land, until the title should have ultimately become vested in an actual settler, upon the terms and under the conditions provided in said grant.

340

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, had any right, title or interest in or to the land embraced within and covered by the East Side grant, or any part thereof, except as a settler of the trust in said lands.

341

The Court erred in holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, is not sufficiently definite and certain to be enforced as a covenant to a use or as a trust.

342

The Court erred in not holding that the provisions in the act of May 4, 1870, is sufficiently definite and certain to be enforced as a covenant to a use or as a trust.

343

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in the act of May 4, 1870, requiring sales to settlers, is sufficiently definite and certain as a condition subsequent, to entitle the Government to a forfeiture for its breach, and that it is not sufficiently definite and certain to be specifically enforced as a covenant to a use, or as a covenant creating a trust.

344

The Court erred in not holding that the provisions in the act of May 4, 1870, requiring sales to settlers, was intended by Congress as and was and is a covenant to a use only and not a condition subsequent, as

(a) Said provision contains specific and direct commands which were assented to and agreed to and performance thereof promised by the Railroad company, and

(b) Said provision does not contain any clause providing for forfeiture or re-entry for breach of such covenant, and

(c) Said contract devotes said land to settlement and tillage and ultimate ownership by settlers.

345

The Court erred in holding that the provisions in the act of May 4, 1870, was not a covenant to a use, impressed upon and running with the title to the land, until the title should have ultimately become vested in an actual settler, upon the terms and under the conditions provided in said grant.

346

The Court erred in not holding that the provision in the act of May 4, 1870, was a covenant to a use, impressed upon and running with the title to the land, until the title should have ultimately become vested in an actual settler, upon the terms and under the conditions provided in said grant.

347

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, had any right, title or interest in or to the land embraced within and covered by the West Side grant, or any part thereof, except as a settler of the trust in said lands.

348

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, had any right, title or interest in and to the lands embraced within the East Side land grant or any part thereof, which it could enforce in this action, except such rights as it has as a settler of the trust in said lands, to enforce the provision of said trust, and such rights as it had and has to carry into effect in said suit, its public policies with relation to its granted lands, and

349

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, had any right, title or interest in and to the lands embraced within the West Side land grant or any part thereof, which it could enforce in this action, except such rights as it had or has as a settler of the trust in said lands to enforce the provisions of said trust, and such rights as it had and has to carry into effect in said suit, its public policies with relation to its granted lands, and 850

The Court erred in not holding that this suit can only be maintained by complainant as one to compel the specific performance of a trust covenant, or to enforce a public policy, as

(a) Neither of said land grants contains a provision importing a condition subsequent, upon the breach of which forfeiture could be had, and

(b) Congress has never declared a forfeiture of either of said land grants for breach of any condition subsequent, assuming that there is such condition in either of said land grants, and

(c) The fact of forfeiture has never been adjudicated by a court of law, and

(d) The defendant, Oregon and California Railroad Company holds the legal title to and possession of said lands, and

(e) Complainant having asked for forfeiture and in the alternative for specific performance, this suit cannot be maintained for forfeiture, since equitable relief may be granted by specific performance, and

(f) In view of specific performance a decree quieting title in the Government, cannot be had.

351

The Court erred in not holding, on the assumption that the said proviso in the act of April 10, 1869, is a condition subsequent, for breach of which forfeiture might be had, that complainant elected, by filing its suit in equity, to waive forfeiture, and elected to specifically enforce said proviso as a covenant to a use only.

352

The Court erred in not holding, on the assumption that the said provision in the act of May 4, 1870, is a condition subsequent, for breach of which forfeiture might be had, that complainant elected, by filing its suit in equity, to waive forfeiture, and elected to specifically enforce said provision.

353

The Court erred in holding that the interveners and cross-complainants were not such actual settlers as were contemplated by the acts of April 10, 1869, and May 4, 1870.

354

The Court erred in holding that these interveners and cross-complainants did not have vested interests in the lands sought to be purchased by them and each of them respectively, by reason of their various offers and tenders to purchase said lands upon the terms provided in the acts of April 10, 1869, and May 4, 1870.

355

The Court erred in holding that the evidence in this cause was sufficient to entitle complainant to the decree rendered herein.

356

The Court erred in not holding that the evidence in this cause was insufficient to support or sustain the decree rendered.

357

The Court erred in holding that the evidence adduced in support of the complaint of the United States, complainant herein, was sufficient to entitle complainant to a forfeiture of the title to the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

358

The Court erred in not holding that the evidence adduced in support of the complaint of the United States, complainant herein, was not sufficient to entitle complainant to a forfeiture of the title to the lands sought to be purchased by these interveners and cross-complainants or any of them.

359

The Court erred in holding that the United States, complainant herein, was entitled to recover its costs and disbursements herein, or any costs or disbursements herein, against these interveners and cross-complainants, or any of them, and that a decree should be entered to that effect.

WHEREFORE, these interveners and cross-complainants, jointly and severally, pray that the said several judgments and orders and each of them and the said decision, judgment and decree and each and every part thereof, be reversed, and that this Court enter a decree on behalf of these interveners and cross-complainants as prayed for by them and each of them, respectively, in their several bills of intervention and cross-complaints heretofore filed herein,

And for such other, further or different relief as to this Court may seem just and equitable in the premises.

(Endorsed) Filed February 23, 1914, A. M. Cannon, Clerk U. S. District Court.

(Endorsed) Filed, F. D. Monckton, Clerk.

And thereafter, on March 14, 1914, there was duly filed in this cause a stipulation entered into between complainant and defendants, defendants-cross-complainants, and defendants-interveners, in words and figures as follows, to-wit:

(TITLE)

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED by and between the United States of America, complainant above named, and the Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, defendants, all of the defendants-cross-complainants herein, and all of the interveners herein, by their respective attorneys, subscribers hereto, as follows, to-wit:

I.

The cross appeal of the defendants-cross-complainants and interveners herein taken in the above entitled suit on November 11, 1913, shall be tried, heard and determined at the same time and upon the same record as in and upon the appeal of the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee; and said cross appeal shall be so heard, tried and determined upon said record, including any properly constituted printed record of the said defendants-cross-complainants and interveners which may properly constitute the appeal papers on their appeal.

II.

WHEREAS, the proceedings with reference to all of said defendants-cross-complainants are identical, and consist of (1) the bill of complaint filed by and on behalf of the United States; (2) the several answers filed by and on behalf of the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee; (3) the several cross-complaints and answers filed by said defendants-cross-complainants; (4) the several motions to dismiss said cross-complaints filed by the United States; (5) the several demurrers to said cross-complaints and motions to dismiss said cross-complaints filed and interposed by the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company and Stephen T. Gage; (6) the several demurrers to said cross-complaints and motions to dismiss said cross-complaints filed and interposed by the defendant Union Trust Company; (7) the several orders of the Court sustaining the motions to dismiss and demurrers interposed as to said cross-complaints by the United States and said defendants as aforesaid; (8) the judgment and decree of the Court dismissing said several cross-complaints; (9) the several orders taxing and allowing costs against said defendants-cross-complainants respectively, in favor of the United States and in favor of said several defendants who interposed demurrers to, and motions to dismiss said cross-complaints as aforesaid; (10) the several appeal papers filed by and on behalf of said cross-complainants, consisting of petition for appeal, order allowing appeal, citation, bond on appeal, assignment of errors, and all other papers pertaining to said appeal; and

WHEREAS, the general proceedings as to all of the interveners in said cause are likewise identical, and are also identical with the general proceedings as to said cross-complaints, with the exception that bills in intervention were filed instead of cross-complaints, and the allegations of said cross-complaints differ in some matters from the allegations of said bills in intervention; and

WHEREAS, all of said cross-complaints are identical in substance, differing only as to parties, description of land, dates and other matters of description; and all of said bills in intervention are likewise identical in substance; and

WHEREAS, because of the premises, the decision of any Appellate Court as to any one of said defendants-cross-complainants must necessarily be controlling as to all of said defendants-cross-complainants; and likewise, the decision of any Appellate Court as to any one of the interveners must necessarily be controlling as to all of said interveners; and

WHEREAS, because of the premises, it is unnecessary to include in the printed record upon the pending appeal or any future appeal in said cause the documents and proceedings pertaining to more than one of said cross-complaints or to more than one of said bills in intervention;

NOW, THEREFORE, because of the premises, and to the end that the record in this cause may not be unnecessarily encumbered, and that the expenses of the appellate proceedings may not be unnecessarily increased, IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED by and between the complainant, the United States, the defendants Oregon and California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and the Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, each and all of said defendants-cross-complainants, and each and all of said interveners, as follows, to-wit:

There shall be printed in the record upon the pending appeal or any future appeal in said cause the papers and proceedings, including those hereinbefore mentioned, pertaining to the cross-complaint of John L. Snyder and others; and it shall not be necessary to include in said printed record any of the papers or proceedings pertaining to any of the other of said defendants-cross-complainants; and the decision of any Appellate Court as to said cross-complaint of said John L. Snyder and others, and said defendants-cross-complainants, shall be controlling as to all of said cross-complaints, and said defendants-cross-complainants, in this cause.

There shall be printed in the record upon the pending appeal or any future appeal in said cause the papers and proceedings, including those hereinbefore mentioned, pertaining to the bill in intervention of B. W. Nunally and others; and it shall not be necessary to include in said printed record any of the papers or proceedings pertaining to any of the other of said interveners; and the decision of any Appellate Court as to said bill in intervention of said B. W. Nunally and others, and said interveners, shall be controlling as to all of said bills in intervention, and said interveners, in this cause.

III.

The rights of all of said cross-complainants and of all of said interveners shall be heard, determined and disposed of, upon said pending appeal, or any future appeal in said cause, in the same manner, and with the same effect, as though the papers pertaining to all of said cross-complaints and bills in intervention were included in the printed record in said cause. The decision upon the pending appeal or any future appeal as to the defendants-cross-complainants John L. Snyder and others shall be controlling as to all other defendants-cross-complainants in this cause; and likewise, the decision upon the pending appeal or any future appeal as to the interveners B. W. Nunally and others shall be controlling as to all of the other interveners in this cause.

IV.

So far as may be convenient, the appeal papers of the said defendants-cross-complainants and of the said interveners shall be printed together and in a separate volume, but the said entire record shall be numbered Volume I, II, etc., to and including the last volume consecutively, but the entire record printed on the appeal, as well as upon said cross-appeal may be considered by the court in the determination of all questions involved in said cause on appeal, whether said questions are raised upon the appeal of the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, the Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, or upon the cross-appeal of John L. Snyder and others, defendants-cross-complainants, or B. W. Nunally and others, interveners.

V.

The process in this cause was duly issued and served by the United States upon the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, as well as upon cross-complainants who were named as defendants in the bill of complaint; and the interveners and cross-complainants duly served upon complainant and upon the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T.

Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, copies of their said bills in intervention and cross-complaints; and thereafter the said complainant duly filed its several motions to dismiss said cross-complaints and said bills in intervention, and the said defendants duly filed their said several demurrers to each of said cross-complaints and said bills in intervention.

VI.

The foregoing stipulation is not intended to prescribe the contents of the printed record of the proceedings with reference to the pending appeal or any future appeal in this cause prosecuted by the defendants Oregon & California Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Stephen T. Gage, individually and as trustee, and Union Trust Company, individually and as trustee, or either or any of them, either jointly with said defendants-cross-complainants and said interveners, or otherwise. The appeal by all of said parties is described herein as the main appeal, to distinguish the same from the separate appeal or appeals prosecuted by the cross-complainants and interveners, the latter being described herein as the cross appeal or cross appeals.

VII.

Any part of said record so to be printed on the main appeal or upon the cross-appeal may be considered by the court, whether the same is printed as a part of the record on the main appeal or as part of the record on the cross appeal. All questions raised by any joint Assignment of Error filed in the main appeal by the cross-complainants and the interveners therein shall be considered with and have like effect as though made and filed separately by each of the cross-complainants and interveners joining therein. In the separate or cross-appeal of the cross-complainants and interveners from the several orders of dismissal and from the judgment and decree entered herein, any questions raised by any joint Assignment of Error now filed herein by said cross-complainants and interveners, or either of them, shall be considered with and have like effect as though made and filed separately by each of the parties joining therein.

VIII.

In addition to the printed record and Statement of the Evidence with such exhibits or parts of exhibits as might be included therein, the original report, consisting of ten typewritten volumes of the evidence taken in said cause by the Special Examiner herein, together with the original exhibits referred to therein, including those described in the printed record containing the Statement of the Evidence, shall be certified to the appellate courts to be used in the trial of said cause in said courts in the event of an allegation by either party of an omission or error, subject to such objections as to the competency, relevancy or materiality of any part of said testimony and said exhibits, as may have been taken and duly reserved in the record, by the parties or either of them, and such reports and exhibits may be used by the parties for reference for the purpose of correcting any errors or omissions, as may appear to the Court, and for such direct use in the appellate courts as may be contemplated by the Equity Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States, and as provided by the Act of February 13, 1911, United States Compiled Statutes Supplement 1911, page 275, and as contemplated by Rule 14, Subdivision 4, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. In either the Circuit Court of Appeals or in the Supreme Court of the United States, the appellants will, upon notice or request from the respondent, cause to be printed and included in the printed record any exhibits or parts of exhibits, or any part of the oral testimony, which may have been omitted from the printed record as prepared by the appellants, and the appellants may, after notice to complainant, print in the appellate courts, or either of them, any part of said original testimony which may have been omitted from the printed record, or any part of either of said original exhibits so omitted, and when so printed the same shall be considered and deemed to be a part of the printed record in said cause. Upon the final determination of this cause upon appeal in the Circuit Court of Appeals, or in the Supreme Court of the United States, if the case shall reach that court, the original exhibits and testimony so to be certified up, shall be returned to the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon as a part of the original files in said cause.

IX.

It is further stipulated that an order of this court may be made in accordance with this stipulation.

The object of this stipulation is to save the parties costs and expenses and to permit and authorize the hearing, trial, and determination of said appeals on one record and at the same time.
